South Carolina Ag Council Offers Ag Tour

The South Carolina Agricultural Council is holding its Spring Agricultural Tour on Wednesday, April 21. The daylong tour of Saluda County will include visits to Watsonia Farms (vegetables and peaches), Amick Farms (poultry feed mill and storage), The Nut House (pecans), Yon Family Farms (Angus cattle), and Hickory Hill Farm (dairy with on farm processing). Lunch will be provided at Juniper Restaurant in Ridge Spring.

Participant check-in will be at 8:00 a.m. at the South Carolina Farm Bureau, 724 Knox Abbott Drive, Cayce, S.C. The bus will depart at 8:30 a.m. and return to the Farm Bureau building by 5:00 p.m. Parking for the tour participants will be behind the Farm Bureau Building in the parking lot across the street.

Web Soil Survey – The One-Stop Soils Shop

This free-online tool gives farmers, land-use planners, real estate agents, and others electronic access to relevant soil data and soil interpretations needed to make land-use and management decisions.

If you need the most up-to-date soils information available, the Web Soil Survey (WSS) is for you. It provides agricultural producers, land-use planners, real estate agents, and others electronic access to relevant soil data and soil interpretations needed to make land-use and management decisions.

Changes on Tap for the 2010 South Carolina Boll Weevil Eradication Program

Acreage Assessments to Remain Unchanged

South Carolina cotton growers will have significantly reduced reporting requirements and a simplified payment process as a result of actions taken by the Board of Directors of the South Carolina Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation at its recent meeting in Columbia.

Growers will no longer be required to submit the Preliminary Cotton Acreage Report as has been required in the past. This means there is no May 1 deadline to be concerned about, only the July 15 Final Acreage Report deadline.

It's time for some 'hoops'

No, not basketball. Even though March Madness has been quite a time. No, we're talking strawberries.

Bob and Susan Hall, owners of Bush-N-Vine, are taking advantage of a USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) High Tunnel, or Hoop House, program to grow strawberries on their 80 acre farm in York County.

By NRCS definition, a high tunnel or hoop house is a temporary plastic structure at least six feet in height which modifies the climate to create a more favorable condition for crops.

USDA announced this project under their Know Your Farmer, Know Your Food initiative because high tunnels can lengthen the timeframe for local marketing of produce and enhances locally grown fresh fruits and vegetables, said Tibor Horvath, an agronomist with USDA. Back in the 1980s high tunnels were used by the nursery industry for growing fresh flowers.

The Halls got their first high tunnel which covered an acre on their farm about four years ago and in 2009 they got their second high tunnel. The ability to grow strawberries this long allows them to provide customers with fresh product long before or after other growers can. Of course they may be known for their strawberries, but you can find a whole lot of other produce grown right there at Bush-N-Vine including peaches, blueberries, sweet corn, tomatoes and even pumpkins in the fall. Their roadside market opens in March and runs through the end of December.

Strawberry Recipe

Strawberry Fluff
1 (15-ounce) can fruit cocktail
2 cups strawberries, sliced
1 (12-ounce) container whipped topping
1 (3-ounce) box wild strawberry gelatin
1 cup cottage cheese

Drain juice from fruit cocktail. Mix all ingredients in a large bowl. Refrigerate overnight. Keep refrigerated until ready to serve. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Ag Tour

Due to bus seating, the tour will be limited to 47 people, so PRE-REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED. The deadline to register is Friday, April 16, 2010. The tour is open to the public until the bus seating is filled, with priority given to Council members and their guests.
Cost of the tour is $30 for members of the SC Agricultural Council and $40 for non-members which includes lunch, beverages, and snacks.
To reserve a space on the tour, send your name, phone number along with a check made payable to the South Carolina Agriculture Council and mail to: South Carolina Agriculture Council, PO Box 2683, Columbia, S.C. 29202.
For more information about the Ag Council tour, contact Roy Copelan at 803-734-9806 or scbeef@scda.sc.gov or Steve Slice, at 803-806-3843 or Steve.Slice@sc.usda.gov.

Eradication Program

Also, county Farm Services Agency offices will no longer accept payment of boll weevil assessments when growers file their Final Acreage Report. Instead, growers will receive an invoice for the assessment from the Southeastern Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation based upon their Final Acreage Report directing them to remit payment of the assessment to the Department of Plant Industry at Clemson University. The deadline for payment will be specified on the invoice.
Please note, however, that the July 15 Acreage Certification Date has not changed. The final cotton acreage report is due on or before July 15th. A penalty of up to $5.00/acre may be assessed for all cotton acreage reported after July 15th.
The SCBWEF Board of Directors also set the 2010 acreage assessment for maintenance and operation of the boll weevil eradication program at $1.25 per acre, the same as last year. There has not been a boll weevil trapped in SC in the past ten years. This, along with steps taken to increase efficiency of the trapping program, has allowed the Board to reduce assessments from $5.20 per acre to the current level during that time span.
Any questions about the boll weevil assessments or penalties should be directed to David Howle with Clemson University at 864-646-2120. Questions about trapping or other field operations should be directed to Randy Lynch at 803-495-4105.

Web Soil Survey

WSS provides soil data produced by the National Cooperative Soil Survey, which is a joint effort of the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and other Federal agencies, State agencies, and local participants. It is operated by NRCS and provides access to the largest natural resource information system in the world. NRCS has soil maps and data available online for all of South Carolina's counties as well as 95% of the nation's counties. The site is updated and maintained online as the single authoritative source of soil survey information.
This online tool enables soils information to be accessed for your particular geographic area of interest. Once that area has been selected, a soils map can be produced. WSS also allows users to generate thematic maps of soil interpretations and chemical or physical properties. For example, suppose you have a piece of property and want to build a house with a septic system. You can produce maps and reports showing the soils on the property which are best suited for these uses.
There are more than 100 soil interpretation ratings and more than 40 soil property ratings available. If you want soils information, Web Soil Survey has got it. Just visit http://websoilsurvey.nrcs.usda.gov. This is a free service. For more information about soils or conservation of natural resources, contact your local NRCS office in South Carolina or visit www.sc.nrcs.usda.gov.

Sam Hall, their son who is a senior in Agriculture Economics at Clemson, said during a recent tour of their farm, that the high tunnels have no heating or cooling system, but they do have drip irrigation. Underneath it's a noticeable 10 degree temperature difference and that difference keeps snow and ice off young plants in the cold months. By using high tunnels, the Halls are able to grow strawberries 26 weeks out of the year.

They provided some strawberries for me to use on WLTX's Friends @ Five here in Columbia back on March 17 when I was on talking about National Ag Day; and everyone in the newsroom was raving about the taste and quality.

Susan said they have been open for 30 years. Bush-N-Vine was one of the first to join the Certified SC Grown program in 2007. She added that being members has been beneficial for their business. I guess Certified SC Grown can be related to a hoop house - it takes an existing product and helps it reach new levels.

"People are interested in locally grown produce," Susan said.

She said they've seen an increase in the number of people that recognize the logo. In fact, they are having buckets reprinted with the logo on it to go with their peach boxes that already sport the Certified logo. SCDA is asking all of Certified members to let us know how they have invested at their operations to extend the use of the Certified program.

Susan said their customers come from the surrounding communities and they also have people come from Charlotte and Gastonia and up from Columbia to shop.

"We have a very faithful clientele and they tell friends and neighbors," Susan said. "We have a lot of people that have a home in the mountains and they'll stop to pick up fresh fruits and vegetables to take with them,"

Interested in your own high tunnel or any conservation practices such as pest management, crop rotation, planting cover crops, and nutrient management? Contact your local NRCS office for more information. And if you're ever driving Hwy 321 near York look for the old peach packing shed that's now their roadside stand or make plans to stop by on April 24 for their Strawberry Festival.

I was told if you get just the right moisture and temperature, you can even grow strawberry shortcake in a hoop house. Then I was told'April Fools'.

Goat & Sheep Seminar

A goat and sheep seminar is scheduled in on Saturday, April 17, at Pendleton High School in Anderson, South Carolina. The program will be from 8:30 am to 5:30 pm.

This will be a great educational opportunity for all small ruminant producers. This program has been approved for 7.5 hours of continuing education for veterinarians & those that need it in conjunction with their business.

Cost is for the program is $20 for an individual and $30 for a farm.

This program is being sponsored by Southern Goat Producers Association, Upstate Goat Producers Association of SC, Inc., Foothills Goat & Sheep Producers Association, and SC Dairy Goat Association, along with NC State University & Clemson University and local agribusinesses.

There will be several workshops that will present information on Measuring and Controlling Parasite Loads on Pasture, Herd Performance/Farm Management, Internal Parasites-Famacha®, Kidding Issues, Herd Health and Scrapie Update, Food Regulations-Dairy & Meat Producers Guidelines, Expectations of Breeding Programs Using Embryo Transfer and Laparoscopic Artificial Insemination, Fiber Animals-"From Hoof to Handspun", Herd Health and Scrapie Update, Goat Nutrition and Feeding Programs, plus you will get to meet small ruminant producers from South Carolina & surrounding states.

A bluegrass band, exhibits and vendors will entertain during the lunch break while producers network, shop and enjoy the youth programs. Furney Register will also be there with his mobile goat & sheep product store so you can load up on all your supplies. To register or for more information go www.southerngoatproducers.org or call Judy Langley, Southeastern goat producers association at 864-430-2265.

Town of Fort Mill Announces South Carolina Strawberry Festival

The Town of Fort Mill announces the South Carolina Strawberry Festival to be held April 29-May 2. This is the inaugural year for the Festival. It will be a celebration of spring... and all things strawberry!

The Festival will kick off on Thursday, April 29 with the first annual Miss South Carolina Strawberry Festival Pageant from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at Nation Ford High School.

On Friday, April 30 the Festival will be at the Walter Y. Elisha Park. Festivities begin at 6:00 p.m. and will feature arts and crafts vendors, food vendors, and activities. The "Strawberry Jam," will provide live entertainment. A fireworks display will cap off the night's events at 10:00 p.m.

Saturday, May 1 from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Local talent will perform at the Colgate Country Showdown. Visit Piedmont Medical Center's "Healthy Hometown" for free heath screenings and tips about healthy living. Enter the strawberry recipe contest, or participate in the strawberry ice cream or strawberry pie eating contests. Family-friendly activities, including kids' rides, a rock wall, Guitar Hero, pig races, hay rides, and face painting will also be available.

The Festival will conclude on Sunday, May 2 with the third annual Dylan Mitchell Memorial Criterium. Amateur and professional cyclists will descend on downtown Fort Mill for a day of fast-paced, short track road racing.

Boiling Springs Elementary School student grows award-winning cabbage

Boiling Springs Elementary School student Chadee Theo said she had "lots of fun" growing her oversized cabbage in her uncle's garden; and just having fun with agriculture won her a $1,000 Saving Bond from Bonnie Plants as this year's winner of the Bonnie Plant Third Grade Cabbage Program.

Chadee grew her award winning cabbage over the summer as part of the Bonnie Plants Third Grade Cabbage Program. Each spring Bonnie Plants distributes O.S. Cross (oversized) cabbage plants - one per student - to participating third-grade classes across the nation at no charge. Last year 305 schools in South Carolina participated in the program. There were 73 entries out of those schools.

"It's a big accomplishment to win this award," said Richard Brooks, station manager for Bonnie Plants in South Carolina.

Chadee said she learned a lot about agriculture and encourages other students at her school to participate in the program. She was responsible for planting and watering the cabbage. She even helped build a fence around it to keep deer out.

South Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture Hugh Weathers presented Chadee with her award and spoke to her elementary school class about agriculture on March 18.

"Teaching children about agriculture and showing them their food doesn't come from a store is important," Weathers said. "I have to thank Bonnie Plants for what they do with this program."

Teachers' deadline to register is April 15. Later this spring, Bonnie Plants will deliver two-inch plants and growing instructions to each third-grader at the school. Students plant them in their gardens and by the time school resumes in August, they should have a huge head of cabbage.

Bonnie Plants is based in Union Springs, Ala., and is a division of Alabama Farmers Co-Op in Decatur. Ten years ago Bonnie Plants began offering a free cabbage plant to third graders to promote gardening with children in schools. In last year's program, 1.5 million students in 45 states participated.

South Carolina Cattlemen's Association annual meeting May 14-15

The South Carolina Cattlemen's Association will have a special guest speaker during its annual meeting May 14-15 at Clemson University's Madren Center.

Baxter Black, cowboy poet and former large animal veterinarian, will be a headline speaker at the Saturday night banquet on May 15 at 7 p.m. Black is a regular on RFD-TV and National Public Radio, and his articles appear monthly in The Western Horseman.

Tickets are $60 for the conference and includes educational materials, snacks, the Friday reception and Saturday banquet. Some of the educational sessions will include marketing calves, BQA training and cattle selection and management.
